DISSERTATION:

Title: Perspectives on Firm Decision Making During Risky Technology Acquisitions

Committee: Lawton R. Burns (Advisor), Harbir Singh (Chair), John R. Kimberly, Howard C. Kunreuther, and Mark V. Pauly

Available online: <http://repository.upenn.edu/edissertations/313/>

RESEARCH INTERESTS:

All of my research is conducted within the context of healthcare.

Primary: Quality (high-cost services and mHealth), Technology

Secondary: Operations, Strategy

HEALTHCARE SECTOR EXPERIENCE:

Payer+Provider Syndicate March 2012 – Present
President

- Founded a consultancy that enables health services companies and investors to better understand operational issues through market analysis, intervention evaluation, and the development of performance improvement methodologies
- Built client relationships with a wide variety of firms, including a multinational Fortune 500 company, an academic medical center, a diabetes management company, a provider performance improvement company, a diagnostics company, a utilization management company, a provider strategy consultancy, a change management consultancy, and multiple private equity firms investing in the payer, provider, and health IT industries
- Provided turn-key outcomes research services, and managed multi-organizational, multi-disciplinary research teams
- Provided insights on healthcare topics that were featured by JAMA, CNN, Fortune, Fox Business, Inc., NBC, Reuters, Yahoo! Health, The Christian Science Monitor, and numerous other outlets.

HealthHelp October 2014 – Present
Director of Outcomes Research

- Managed the HealthHelp / Humana outcomes research collaboration. The collaboration consists of medical directors and analysts from HealthHelp, members of the Humana Business Optimization Team, members of the Humana Publications committee, Humana medical directors, and academic physicians. HealthHelp is a specialty benefits management company and Humana is a managed care organization.
- Developed studies which have been published in peer-reviewed journals
- Crafted conference submissions, resulting in appearances at AcademyHealth, ACR, AHA Scientific Sessions, ASNR, HFSA, Population Health Forum, and RSNA

Oliver Wyman, Health and Life Sciences Practice July 2011 – February 2012
Associate

- Served as a management consultant in a practice addressing the needs of the health insurance, hospital, and pharmaceutical industries
- Helped a regional payer develop a strategy for engaging consumers in the individual market post-reform
- Assessed the implications of healthcare reform for small group sales in four states for a national payer

Wharton Health Care Management & Economics Department (Philadelphia, PA)

August 2008 – May 2011

Research Assistant for Professor Lawton R. Burns, Department Chair

- Provided methodological guidance to Archstone Consulting for the report, “The Biopharmaceutical Sector’s Impact on the U.S. Economy: Analysis at the National, State, and Local Levels”
- Reviewed the literature on the success and failure of firms in order to assist in the legal defense of a medical devices firm. Subsequently developed the literature review into a book chapter on the determinants of success and failure in the medical device industry.

Wharton Operations & Information Management Department (Philadelphia, PA)

September 2007 – May 2011

Research Collaboration with Chris P. Lee, Ph.D., Professor Sergei V. Savin, and Professor Nicos Savva

- Attempted to determine how much an academic hospital system should charge private insurers under the patient classifications of the severity-adjusted MS-DRG (Medicare Severity-adjusted Diagnosis Related Groups) system
- Devised a technique for inferring the severity distribution of the patients under the new DRG system, using often incomplete data from the old DRG system. Adapted a mixed logit regression model to predict the frequency with which the health system would encounter patients with various diagnoses. Geared research to both an academic audience and to the health system’s pricing negotiation committee.
- Determined the impact of high patient workload on the billing performance of a hospital trauma department. Provided guidelines for reducing the impact of workload on billing quality.

Penn Biotech Group*Group Vice President / Principal of the Consulting Department*

May 2010 – May 2011

- Created a health insurance practice for Penn Biotech Group’s Consulting Department through securing two large insurers
- Responsible for recruiting student consultants and allocating them to clients

Engagement Manager for a Consulting Engagement with a Top Five Pharmaceutical Company February 2010 – April 2010

- Lead a multi-disciplinary team consisting of three post-doctoral students in the biological sciences, a doctoral student in computer science, a law student, a masters student in biotechnology, and a medical researcher
- Developed a methodology combining artificial intelligence and econometrics that the team used to study an issue concerning the regulatory approval process for pharmaceuticals
- Presented findings to the client and provided concrete recommendations about how future marketing authorization applications could be improved to maximize the likelihood of their timely and ultimate approval
- Designed and delivered software to the client to enable them to automatically evaluate their marketing authorization applications before submission to regulators

Humana, Inc. (Louisville, KY)

May 2007 – August 2007

Benefits Intern for the Human Resources Department, supervised by Debbie Triplett

- Wrote 37 presentations on issues of importance to the Benefits Department, addressing topics such as the current online wellness offerings of competitors, means in which Humana’s online benefits and wellness systems could be improved, and ways to measure employee productivity
- Devised costless ways of providing health benefits to retired and semi-retired employees
- Designed activities for the “Mental Agility Campaign” that occurred at the end of 2007
- Saved Humana tens of thousands of dollars by researching alternative benefit options and recommending those offering the best value
- Reduced the likelihood that employees will lose their homes in the future by advocating that Humana not endorse heavily-leveraged home loans

BUSINESS SECTOR EXPERIENCE:LinPowell Corporation / Taikor Media (Philadelphia/Boston/Shanghai)

March 2007 – September 2008

Co-founder of a startup company in the Social Web industry and partner in a Chinese outsourcing startup

- Designed a product mock-up for a social networking website intended to help people find local activities
- Selected the independent contractor used to build the site, Taikor Media, and led the project through the private beta phase of development

UBS Wealth Management USA (New York, NY)

June 2004 – August 2004

Wealth Management Intern, supervised by John Cioffi

- Investigated the relationship between the size of the underground economy and the U.S. GDP by conducting a literature review, interviewing analysts in the field, and devising indirect measures. Measured unreported Internet sales, formal labor, informal labor, and illicit labor
- Compiled reports on the American unreported economy, assorted equities in China and in the healthcare sector, and the correlation between Argentina's currency movements and its local market. Presented findings to Mr. Cioffi in order to assist him in making investment decisions.

TECHNOLOGY SECTOR EXPERIENCE:Microsoft Corporation (Redmond, WA)

June 2005 – August 2005

Program Manager Intern for Microsoft Office FrontPage

- Brainstormed potential web portals to be shipped with Windows SharePoint Services Version 3, an online collaboration software package
- Designed a template of a web portal for tracking the purchase and ownership of assets, which is now shipping with Windows Server 2008
- Conceived a feature for Workflow within SharePoint that addressed the needs of multiple industries and could be inexpensively implemented

MIT Artificial Intelligence Laboratory (Cambridge, MA)

June 2003 – August 2003

Research Intern, supervised by Professor Michael Collins

- Created a means for gathering data for a natural language processing experiment, in which users selected mp3s from an iTunes-like library via forming natural sentences. Designed and implemented Java-based and Visual Basic-based interfaces for permitting multiple users to collaboratively query SQL databases over a network through TCP/IP sockets.
